Guide for Use

This document encompasses the data elements the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) needs to support 943.6871(10), F.S. This statute, known as Criminal Justice Data Transparency (CJDT) created the Florida Arrest Affidavit, also known as the uniform arrest affidavit, so each state, county, and municipal law enforcement agency can facilitate complete, accurate, and timely collection and reporting of data from each criminal offense arrest.

This document is focused on the data elements required for inclusion in the Florida Arrest Affidavit. This requirement is based on statute and workgroup input as well as related elements needed to increase uniformity and completeness of the data. Each element has a definition and data format type.

The dictionary elaborates on data format types and the XPath. Business rules are also included.

The Criminal Justice and Juvenile Information Systems (CJJIS) Council has adopted the data dictionary elements as the standard. Where applicable to the individual arrest, agencies should share the entirety of the collected data for the data fields defined in this document.

Format Types

Each field contains a format type. The following list contains the types of formats that may be found in this document.

XML Data Type	Format Type	Description/Example
xs:string	Alphabetic	Only characters A through Z unless otherwise noted
	Alphanumeric	Only number and characters A through Z unless otherwise noted
	Code Value*	A list of values – only values listed will be valid
xs:decimal	Decimal	A number that allows decimals; example: 999.99
xs:integer	Number	Only numbers 0123456789
xs:boolean	True or False	Two values only; example: Yes or No or a check box
xs:date	YYYY-MM-DD	Only Date; example: 2002-05-30
xs:dateTime	YYYY-MM-DDThh:mm:ss	Data and time are submitted together; example: 2000-08-23T14:31:00Z
xs:time	hh:mm:ss	Only Time; example: 09:30:10

*Some code values in the XML may include values not listed in this document. Only values that pertain to the arrest affidavit are recorded in this document.

XPath

FDLE's technical specification uses NIEM XML standards. NIEM XML stands for National Information Exchange Model eXtensible Markup Language. It is a partnership of the U.S. Department of Justice, Department of Homeland Security, and Department of Health and Human Services and it standardizes content to accurately compare or consolidate data. NIEM is an XML-based information exchange framework.

Within this Data Dictionary FDLE has included the XML XPath for each field with the business definitions of the field. XPath stands for XML Path Language. XPath uses "path like" syntax to identify and navigate through elements and attributes in an XML document. The XPath will be used by technical implementers and it is documented in the IEPD. The IEPD can be found on CJNet at http://www.flcjn.net/CJIS-Resources/Resources/FDLEIEPD.aspx

Interface Control Document (ICD)

FDLE's CJIS Portal Interface Control Document (ICD) is a technical document that explains how contributing agencies interface with FDLE's systems. Each contributing agency's technical staff can use the ICD document to program or configure their systems to send records in the NIEM XML format through FDLE's CJIS Portal ICD. The Data Dictionary is the business document that describes what needs to be sent to FDLE. The IEPDs describe the data's record formatting requirement to be sent to FDLE in technical terms. All three documents (Data Dictionary, IEPD, and ICD) provide the complete picture of what and how to communicate with and send data to FDLE.

Currently supported formats

FDLE supports receiving data in the following versions:

Dictionary	FDLE IEPD	ICD
1.1	1.1 Beta 1	1.0
1.2	1.2	1.0
1.3 (This draft)	1.3	1.1

This is the code list for Arrestee Armed With Code..

Code	Description
01	Unarmed
11A	Automatic Firearm (type not stated). A firearm which shoots, is designed to shoot, or can be readily restored to shoot, automatically more than one shot, without manual reloading, by a single and continuous pull of the trigger.
11S	Semi-Automatic Firearm (type not stated). A repeating firearm which utilizes a portion of the energy of a firing cartridge, either mechanical, inertial, or gaseous, to extract the fired cartridge case and chamber the next round, and which requires a separate pull of the trigger to fire each cartridge
11M	Manual Firearm (type not stated). A firearm, either single shot or repeating, which requires some type of manual motion or intervention by the shooter to chamber or ready the next round, or for repeating firearms, eject the fired cartridge and chamber the next round. Both single-action and double-action revolvers are included in this classification because the manual pulling of the trigger (or hammer) is what advances the cylinder, not the energy of the preceding shot. Also included in this classification are all types of break/hinge action, bolt action, lever action, and pump action rifles and shotguns. Improvised firearms, such as “zip” guns, are also included in this classification.
11U	Unknown Firearm (type not stated). When the action type is not readily known, the firearm action should be classified as unknown. If the action type becomes known, the record should be modified to reflect the specific action: Automatic (A), Semi-Automatic (S), or Manual (M).
